Board Development: Your Dream Team Board

One of the multiple roles of a non-profit Board of Directors is to build upon itself. Finding others to play in your sand box can be an arduous task, especially when you have multiple personalities, agendas, etc. But recruitment is one of the most important duties of board service as it not only affects the governance of the organization but it ensures its future strength as well. So…Who does the recruiting?  When do we recruit?  Where do we recruit?  Who does the nominating?  Should there by minimum requirements?  How do we filter out those who are not contributing?  These questions and many more will be answered in this session, as we discuss how to retain and expand your “Dream Team” Board.
